Consoling Sisters of the Sacred Heart of Jesus

The Consoling Sisters of the Sacred Heart of Jesus were founded in 1961 by Fr. Basilio Rosati, a Passionist priest who was a well-known preacher and Spiritual Director. His great zeal led him to preach missions throughout Italy, awakening in souls the love of Christ Crucified and imprinting in them a devotion to the Sacred Heart.

Fr. Rosati

Consequently, he met a group of young ladies who desired to consecrate their lives to God. Father formed our community which grew quickly, and before long we were called to many dioceses.

Fr. du Chalard

A few months before his death in 1996, Fr. Basilio entrusted us to the care of Fr. Emmanuel du Chalard (SSPX). At that time, the congregation was reduced to only 6 members who remained faithful to Tradition.

In 2006 a new apostolate began in India with the entrance of Miss Swarna Vongala (now Sr. Maria Immacolata). There is now a large field of activity in southern India including a girls orphanage, a school, and assistance for the elderly.

Our daily work consists in loving God through prayer, sacristy work, housekeeping, gardening, catechism classes, taking care of the elderly and visiting the sick of the town.

The first American entered in 2014, and in thanksgiving we enthroned Our Lady of Guadalupe. Since then the flood of American aspirants has been increasing. Today the Americans (3 professed sisters, 4 novices & 4 postulants) make up almost 1/3 of our community.

We are looking for a house for the Novitiate here in Italy because the convent in Vigne is now too small.

We are preparing to open a foundation in the US at the request of Fr. Davide Pagliarani, Superior general of the SSPX.

The Consoling Sisters of the Sacred Heart want to spread Christ's reign in the world by living their motto: "Heart of Jesus, to love Thee and to make Thee loved".
